PRESS RELEASE

Office of the Election Commission of Thailand
News Release No. 65/2026 Publication date 17 November 2026

Mr. Andrew David Egan, Minister and Deputy Head of Mission of the Australian Embassy to Thailand, Paid a Visit to Deputy Secretary-General of the Election Commission of Thailand

On 12 November 2026, Mr. Andrew David Egan, Minister and Deputy Head of Mission of the Australian Embassy to Thailand, together with the delegation from the Australian Embassy in Thailand, comprising Ms. Rose Iles Fealy, Second Secretary (Political), and Mr. Sarat Suebsantikul, Senior Political Analyst, paid a visit to and held discussions with Pol. Maj. Nattawat Sa-ngiamsak, Deputy Secretary-General of the Election Commission of Thailand, and officials at the Office of the Election Commission of Thailand (OECT). The meeting aimed to further advance the bilateral cooperation between the two organisations into concrete joint activities.

On this occasion, both sides discussed the preparation of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between the Office of the Election Commission of Thailand and the Australian Electoral Commission and its negotiation process, as well as the timeline for reaching a final agreement. They also discussed future partnership programme between the OECT and the AEC, with emphasis on exchanging knowledge, experience, and best practices in election management and intelligence gathering.
